

Brad Shaw

Vice President of Client Relations

Brad is EdR's vice president of client relations. He joined EdR in 2003 as the director of residence life and student personnel development after working in higher education for 15 years. Since joining the company, Brad has created a formalized resident assistant program for EdR including training and policy manual development, assisted with development and acquisition presentations highlighting residence life programs, and spearheaded the operations relationship with universities and third-party clients across the country. He works with EdR's regional directors in budgeting and performance management with regard to those universities and third-party clients. Brad has extensive experience performing university relations functions related to ground lease projects with strong university ties like those at University of Kentucky and Boise State University, among others.

Brad sits on the foundation board of the College Student Educators International (ACPA) and is a foundation board committee member of the Association of College and University Housing Officers-International (ACUHO-I). He presents regularly at conferences hosted by the ACPA, ACUHO-I, National Apartment Association, Student Affairs Administrators in Higher Education (NASPA) and other professional organizations. Brad holds a B.A. in business from Baldwin-Wallace University and an M.Ed. from the University of Maine.
