

Jason Taylor

Senior Vice President of University Partnerships

Jason joined EdR in 2017. He has participated in the planning and procurement of nearly $1.5 billion of successfully executed public private partnership (P3) student housing projects, and advised more than 140 colleges and universities on the planning, feasibility and financing of student housing over his 14-year P3 consulting career. A well-known figure within the student housing industry, Taylor regularly serves as a panelist and moderator at industry events, as well as an author of a multitude of white papers and articles.
