

Arlington Park Apartments University of Northern Colorado

Overview

EdR met the creative challenges for Arlington Park, which required preserving an elementary school and seamlessly integrating the apartments into the neighborhood on the University of Northern Colorado campus.

The project, led by EdR, included redeveloping a historic elementary school to accommodate housing, management offices and the commons area. Surrounding the elementary school are three-story garden apartments with 394 beds for upperclassmen and graduate students.

EdR also operates the facility and provides residence-life programming in close cooperation with the University of Northern Colorado. The development was financed through tax-exempt bonds under a ground-lease arrangement with a university-related 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization.
